THE SLOW EMANCIPATION OF WOMEN (PART 1)

Millie: Have you finished your homework for Monday, Emma?

Emma: Oh no! I'll start this evening.

Millie: Hey, what about sharing the work?

Emma: What do you mean?

Millie: You search the dates for France and I search the dates for England.

Emma: Good idea! Do you remember what those dates are about?

Millie: Yes, I do. They all refer to laws that have contributed to the emancipation of women. Are you ready to note down?

Emma: Yes, I am.

Millie: OK. Civil wedding, divorce, compulsory education for girls, women's right to vote, Family Planning and... paid maternity leave.

Emma: Thanks. Let me repeat: civil wedding, divorce, compulsory education for girls, women's right to vote, Family Planning and... paid maternity leave.

Millie: So, you'll search when the laws were adopted in France and I'll do the same for England.

Emma: YES!
