How to greet people all over the world

Juliana

Sometimes the quickest and easiest way of forming a connection with somebody is simply by saying hello. Practise these foreign greetings with the following international students.

My name is Juliana and I'm from Kampala, Uganda and how we say hello in my native Ruchika to everyone is Agandi, Agandi.

Sissi

Hi! I'm Sissi and I'm from Lima, Peru. In Spanish when you meet someone if you don't know the person, you would say Hola. Mucho gusto. If you already know the person, you would say Hola. ¿Qué tal? which means Hi! How are you? and that person would reply Hola. Bien. ¿Y tu?

Maria

Hello. My name is Maria. I'm from Russia, Moscow. If you see someone you know, you say informal way of hi! which is Privet. If it's someone you don't know or if it's an adult, you say a formal way which is Zdravstvujte.

Jiyeon

Hello I'm Jiyeon and I'm from South Korea. The way to say hello in Korean, you can say An-yong. If you want to say it formally, you can say An-yong-ha-se-yo.

Judith

My name is Judith. I'm from Paris, France and in French, when we greet people we say Bonjour and usually after 6 p.m. we say Bonsoir.

Diana

Hello! My name is Diana. I'm from Egypt. My Dad is from Cairo. My Mum is from Alexandria. The way to say hello in the Egyptian way is Ahlan. The response is for male Alhan bik, for female Ahlan Biki. The way to say Hello in modern standard Arabic is As-salam 'alaykum which means peace be on you. The response is to say Wa'alaykum as-salam.

Zaida

My name is Zaida and I come from Banja Luka from Bosnia Herzegovina. If you want to greet your friends in Bosnian, you usually say Zdravo. Zdravo means— literally translated to English— means healthy. If there's someone who is older than you and you want to be a little bit more formal, you usually say Dober dan which means good afternoon.
